

Fall use of new lake pork planned

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

As the Illinois Department of Conservation continues to purchase property for the Horseshoe Lake State Park, a tentative timetable has been released for public fishing and duck hunting on the lake.

Dave Harper, district biologist in the conservation office in Alton, told the Press-Record Friday that portions of the lake owned by the state now are open for fishing from the banks and the department is staking sites for duck hunting blinds to be used when duck hunting season opens Oct. 22. The sites are south of the causeway.

Individuals or groups wishing to have use of a duck blind site on Horseshoe Lake will draw for the sites available on Sept. 18. Either 10 or 17 duck blind spaces will be available, depending upon whether construction is under way at that time for a planned access road, parking areas and causeway improvements.

Harper explained that there will be safety room for only 10 duck blinds this year if construction is under way, to avoid endangering the workmen and their equipment.

If no contracts for the improvements have been awarded by duck season, there will be adequate safety room to provide 17 duck blinds on the lake.

The department presently is seeking bids on the park improvements and will open the bids Aug. 31. The bids then will be studied and an announcement made before drawing for duck blind spots Sept. 18.

On Sept. 18, a table will be set up on the lake side of Route 111 a quarter mile south of Sand Prairie Lane and hunters wishing to have use of a duck blind for the year may register there anytime between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. the date.

At 2 p.m. Sept. 18, Conservation officials will draw either 10 or 17 names and will award use of the duck blinds to those persons or groups whose names were chosen.

Those selected will have to construct their own duck blinds, but will not be charged for use of the sites, Harper said.

He noted all of the plans concerning the duck blinds are tentative, but probably will be confirmed in a later announcement.

He emphasized boating now is prohibited on the lake and only those hunters who have use of the duck blinds will be allowed to take boats on the lake during duck season, Oct. 22 through Dec. 10.

He noted the department has not acquired all of the lake property and boaters leaving the park water will be guilty of trespassing on private property. Because of this problem, boats also have been prohibited on the portions of the lake owned by the state.

He said as more property is purchased, portions of the lake may be opened to boaters and a motor size limit of about 10 horsepower is likely to be established, due to the shallowness of the lake.

Boat fishing is strictly prohibited and bank fishing probably will be prohibited during duck hunting times. Tentative plans call for duck hunting in the mornings only with the banks reopened to fishermen at noon each day. The north and east shores presently are open to fishermen.

Youth killed by car

Larry Halverson, 19, of 5412 Maryville Road, was fatally injured as he walked from his yard into Maryville Road and was struck by the auto of Fred Richardson, 1431a Fourth St., Madison, at 8:20 p.m. Friday.

Mr. Halverson was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he was declared dead upon arrival at 8:35 p.m. Friday.

Richardson said the young man walked in front of his car and raised his arms.

The brakes were applied and the car swerved, but he was unable to avoid striking Mr. Halverson, Richardson said.

Richardson was charged with driving while under the influence of liquor.

Mr. Halverson was born in Willmar, Minn., and resided in this area seven years.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Bill (Kay) Kincer of Granite City; his father, Virgil L. Halverson of Willmar, Minn.; five sisters, Misses Kim, Debra, Jody, Karen and Sharon Halverson, all of Granite City; two brothers, Bryan and Jeffrey Halverson, both of Granite City; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lon Hood Sr. of New London, Minn.; his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Vera Halverson of Willmar, Minn.; and his step-paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mertens of Cahokia.

Flu shots Oct. 23

Free swine flu vaccinations will begin in the Quad-City area Oct. 23 in local high schools. It has been announced by Madison County authorities.

The Quad-Cities area has been combined with Edwardsville and Collinsville into what the county terms Region 1. Several schools in this region will be used for the free inoculations against swine flu.

The Madison Board of Education agreed Thursday night to have the county use the Madison High School gymnasium Oct. 23 to 25 for the mass inoculation.

It is estimated 11,650 persons will be inoculated at that center in the two days. Twenty volunteers are being sought to help man the center.

Granite City High School South also is being sought as an inoculation point.

It is not known how much swine flu vaccine will be available, so priorities are being established. Those over 65 years, the needy and those in poor health will be the first group to whom the free inoculations will be offered.

Everyone else over 18 years of age is in the second priority category. Children have the lowest priority, due to their strength in fighting flu.

If the vaccine is available in sufficient quantity, however, it will be given to all school children, county officials noted.

On and off the record Rainbow hues identify departments

By DONNA HARTWICK
Press-Record Staff Writer

Rainbow-colored arrows will mark the way to various departments in St. Elizabeth Hospital as part of a long-range redecorating program initiated at the hospital this month.

The first phase is evident in a hallway of the ground floor, in the newest wing of the facility.

According to extensive plans of the Prisma, Inc., firm in St. Louis and Jason Blake, planning director at the hospital, the hallway leading to the hospital laboratory, x-ray department and other medical departments on the ground floor has been completed with a series of bright wall colors.

Beginning at the elevators, the hall walls are covered with brilliant blue and green wall paper alternating with a subdued tone neutral paper.

The pattern continues with bright purple, deeper green shades and reds, and ends with lighter shades of pink, orange and yellow to achieve a rainbow effect.

Arrows in matching shades will be installed to designate a particular department identified by the hall colors, for the convenience of patients and hospital visitors.

Nearing completion are doctors' offices located on the third and fourth floors of the hospital, featuring cool fern green and antique white walls to complement the dark wood of the doors and facings.

The office interiors continue the bright, cheerful and harmonious palette of colors to conform with the new concept.

Cooperation — a key for Downtown New sheltered workshop here

Mall planning seven years ago failed due to opposition by some Downtown property owners and also due to city hesitation to approve some aspects of the proposal. But there is optimism that new Downtown planning can succeed because of a widespread spirit of cooperation among owners, businesses and government officials.

Circular flow of traffic around Downtown by vehicles having more distant destinations is one of the keys to current planning.

Working closely with Downtown Granite City, Inc., have been Mayor Paul Schuler and a City Council committee composed of Aldermen Ronald Coleman, Warren Decatur and Steve Basarich.

Municipal authorities traditionally have declined to transfer their traffic control power to others but they indicate they are likely to be receptive to reasonable and universally desired traffic or parking changes.

The city has a stake in the central business district's success due to the municipal share of the state sales tax.

The Downtown group is "getting its act together" by enlisting a steadily increasing number of store operators, property owners, financial Specialized Services will centralize its southern Madison County operations at 2118 Grand Ave., Granite City, formerly the J. C. Ranft Bottling Co. building, President Robert Dow of Collinsville announced today.

The new 17,000-square-foot facility will open in mid-September with about 95 clients and 15 staff members.

Tom Moehn and Lorraine Hamm are co-directors of Specialized and Jerry Kane is production superintendent for the southern county region.

"The site will slightly more than double the space at the current Collinsville facility and a former Quad-City location," Moehn said.

"Focus of the vocational rehabilitation program is to serve the vocational, social, emotional and recreational needs of the clients, through developmentally-oriented programs and production areas."

Program components offered in the centralized facility will include adult special education, speech and hearing therapy, vocational counseling and job placement, individual and group counseling and independent living skills training.

The three major programs in which clients will be placed according to the severity of their disability and their vocational potential are work activity, work adjustment training and sheltered employment.

Production focus of the program will center around manufacturing and sub-contracts related to local industries.

Minimum pay law in effect

A new Illinois minimum wage of $2.20, an increase of 10 cents, went into effect upon being signed Sunday by Governor Daniel Walker. Another 10-cent hourly increase is scheduled for Jan. 1, 1977.

Coverage is extended to 72,000 more workers. The law now affects employers who hire four or more full-time workers, instead of five. Motion picture theater employees are newly covered.

New provisions require that, with certain exceptions, workers must be paid time-and-a-half after they are on the job more than 40 hours in a week.

Weather outlook for this region

Partly cloudy today through Tuesday with isolated afternoon and evening showers. High tonight in the mid-60s. Low tonight in the mid-60s. Clear to partly cloudy and warm Wednesday through Friday with highs in the upper 80s to low 90s. Lows in the 60s.

Health and hypochondria in past years

(68th of a Bicentennial year Press-Record series)

Mortality rates were high in post-Civil War Illinois, especially for children, and the infectious diseases which killed in 1869 were still virulent by 1900.

In October, 1869, Chicago listed 597 deaths. Of the victims, 105 were under one year of age, and 131 were between one and three years of age.

The leading cause of death was convulsions (45), closely followed by stillbirth (44), consumption (44), scarlet fever (42), typhoid fever (36), cholera infantum (33), diphtheria (27), tapes mesenterica (24), diarrhea (20), pneumonia (16), old age (12), "feething" (7), and "excessive gnashing" (1).

Medicine modernized cautiously.

Dr. E. Andrews introduced the state's physicians to the idea of antiseptic surgery in an article in the Chicago Medical Examiner in 1869.

Despite its advantages, however, Dr. Andrews warned doctors not to "make a hobby of it," and since his surgery was not

Howlett accuses foe of misstating facts

Michael J. Howlett, Illinois secretary of state and the Democratic nominee for governor, this week charged his opponent with misstating facts on Howlett's activities.

Howlett quoted the Aug. 7 issue of the Daily Mail as follows:

"Local people who were present when Michael Howlett,

Democratic Party candidate for governor of Illinois, met with a group of area oil producers, label as 'ridiculous' charges that Howlett made certain promises to the operators in return for a campaign contribution.

"At a news conference earlier this week, the Republican Party gubernatorial candidate James Thompson accused Howlett of promising to support changes in workmen's compensation and to support oil drilling on public lands in return for a $3,000 political donation.

"Thompson said the meeting took place in Olney on April 19 and added that he was told by one of the participants that it was a secret meeting. He said he could not remember who it was that told him of the meeting.

"Mr. Thompson certainly has made a gross misstatement of fact," the Daily Mail was told by a local man who does not wish to be identified.

"In conversations with several people who were at the meeting, all contended that it was not a secret meeting, as Thompson stated, but was held in the Holiday Inn dining room.

"There was no mention whatsoever of a campaign contribution. The simple questions were asked regarding Howlett's stand on certain issues. He answered the questions, but he made no promises.

"The source said that a contribution was made at the meeting, but that it was to the Democratic Party Central Committee of Richland County. 'It didn't go to Howlett. He didn't ask for it and didn't know anything about it.'

"When asked the amount, the source said it was not $3,000 as Thompson had charged. When asked if it was $500, as has been reported elsewhere, he said, 'That's awfully close.'

"Another source called the Thompson charges an insult to the oil operators. Nobody solicited the oil operators for any contribution; although one was made, it was not to Howlett but to the committee, and not for the amount Thompson charged.

"United Press International quoted Howlett as saying he 'merely talked about problems of the oil industry' at the meeting but made no promises.

"Hy Raskin, Howlett's campaign manager, is quoted as saying Howlett has said he would consider drilling on public land, but only if it is shown to be environmentally safe.

In view of what he described as a "gross misstatement of fact" by Thompson, Howlett is asking that the Republican candidate withdraw his accusation.

Thompson for land development curbs

James R. Thompson, Republican candidate for governor, has called for taking firm steps to insure that Illinois' prime agricultural land is protected.

In his eighth position paper of the campaign, Thompson said that action must be taken to assure that Illinois remains the leading agricultural exporting state in the nation.

"We must consciously endeavor to protect highly productive farmland from development, condemnation and other forms of destruction," Thompson said.

In addition to stating policies on land use and soil and water conservation, Thompson also discussed his views relating to agriculture and highways, local bridges, real property taxes, estate and inheritance taxes, universities, farm markets and the Illinois State Fair.

The former United States attorney announced during a speech before members of the Illinois Agricultural Association and during press conferences in Emerson, Ill., and at the Whiteside County Fair.

In order to "better protect one of Illinois' greatest natural resources"—farmland—Thompson called on the General Assembly to adopt legislation that would permit the establishment of "agricultural districts."

The districts, Thompson said, would exempt the land in the area from any use except for agricultural purposes once it was certified.

Each district, Thompson added, would be reviewed on a regular basis to determine if the area should maintain the restricted use status.

In the area of soil and water conservation, Thompson said that the legislature must also focus its attention on the growing need for erosion and sediment control.

"The potential loss to Illinois, in human and economic terms, of permitting these problems to grow beyond our ability to realistically deal with them is incalculable," he said.

Thompson called on the legislature to "develop a reasonable and effective erosion and sediment control program."

Regarding highways, Thompson said that although the state's road fund is presently in a "perilous condition," efforts must be made to improve resurfacing of roads and highways to avoid the more costly reconstruction that is required because of neglect.

Thompson said the state should work closely with county and local governments to speed up receipt of local road funds from the state and the federal governments.

In addition to establishing clear priorities within the state resurfacing program to insure rural roads and highways receive fair treatment, Thompson said rural roads should be considered on a network or regional basis, rather than county-by-county.

Thompson added that he is "unalterably opposed" to removing the gasoline tax exemption that farmers receive for non-highway use of farm machinery.

Thompson said the state's township bridge system "is literally falling to pieces."

He said conservative estimates show that to repair all of the bridges adequately would cost nearly $827 million.

"Those (bridges) that are justifiably important should be restored, but those with so little traffic and relatively convenient alternative routes must realistically be abandoned."

He cautioned against permitting real estate taxes to carry an excessive share of the burden of paying the cost of local government. "Real property taxes must not be allowed to become confiscatory,"

Thompson added that farmland adjacent to metropolitan areas must be assessed on the basis of its current agricultural use rather than its potential value as a site for residential development.

Concerning estate and inheritance taxes, Thompson urged the governor to sign legislation that is on his desk that would increase exemptions for surviving spouses and children from $20,000 to $40,000.

Regarding agriculture and universities, Thompson said that "we should encourage the development of continuing education programs."

He said he also supports full implementation of agricultural extension services of the University of Illinois.

Thompson said the foreign offices of the Illinois Department of Business and Economic Development should be located to offer the best market for Illinois products and staffed with persons sensitive to the needs of the state's farming community.

Thompson said he supports reform of the operation of the State Fair. "Our fair should be something of which we are always proud; it should become a showplace from which to see and experience rural skills and viewpoints."

Values clarification tests for high school students

When school opens in Granite City later this week, a large group of high school students will be taking a new type of test—one which checks their values and moral feelings. Under a grant from the Illinois attorney general's office, the district is expanding its Values Clarification Project to include as many teachers and students as possible.

The program, which is being tested in the Granite City and Alton public schools, provides tools and suggestions for teachers and counselors to detect values problems in students and to gradually work toward clarifying and correcting moral and value problems.

The program here is entering its third year and has met with praise from its administrators and from the Board of Education.

Testing is done at the beginning and end of the school year and comparing each student's set of values before and after the program has yielded indications the teachers are helping students change their values in the program.

It started with only four persons trained in value clarification the first year, expanded to 19, including the original four, last year, and will expand as much as possible during this school year.

Planning is under way to expand to junior high schools and eventually into the elementary grades as soon as possible. The size of the grant received this year will determine the extent of the program.

Students' feelings on honesty, drugs, interpersonal relationships and other factors are measured and studied. "We only hope to measure some tendencies," Dick Miller, a counselor in the program, told the board of education recently.

Jane Fears, teacher in the program added, "All of us in the program are very well satisfied with the results thus far."

They said they hoped the program would "snowball" with nearly every teacher in the school district involved at some time.

Miller said this is the first time teachers have had the tools to measure moral values problems and strengths in students and to gradually work toward improving the problems.

while reinforcing the strengths. "This opens the door to show problems in a lot of students you otherwise would not see, unless they were referred to someone because of a problem," He said the program may have "nipped many students' problems in the bud" before confusion or personal values led to anti-social or criminal behavior.

The board granted its permission to seek a new grant to expand the Values Clarification Project and those involved in the program were praised by the board members.

One aspect of learning is to grow spiritually, and the Religious Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will again provide a full year of worship and activities for the SIUE community.

Campus ministers represent five different faiths. They are: Steve Weissman, Episcopalian; Virgil Santee, American Baptist; James Shortal, Roman Catholic; Robert Treat, United Methodist; and Russell Wigfield, United Christian Foundation.

David Whitsell aboard carrier

Navy Airman Apprentice David E. Whitsell, son of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Whitsell of Rural Route Two, Granite City, is a crewmember aboard the aircraft carrier USS Ranger, which made a week-long Bicentennial visit to Singapore.

His ship hosted more than 10,000 Singapore citizens during three days of visiting aboard the ship. Although far from home, the Ranger's officers and men enjoyed a traditional Fourth of July picnic and celebration hosted by the American community of Singapore.

The Ranger, homeported in San Diego, is currently on an extended deployment to the Western Pacific with the U.S. Seventh Fleet.

A 1975 graduate of Granite City High School North, he joined the Navy in August 1975.

DeMolays attend conclave

Eight DeMolays of the James Stuart Chapter, Order of DeMolay, attended the three-day 48th annual Illinois DeMolay Conclave on the campus of Western Illinois University, Macomb, during the weekend.

The theme of the conclave was "Illinois DeMolay Salutes Freemasonry." Dan T. Rhodes of Arlington Heights presided as state master counselor. Special guests were Master of Ceremonies, Jeffrey Lee Harris, of Ocean Springs.

Also in attendance were state master counselors from Missouri, Iowa, and Wisconsin and a representative from Texas. Elected to head the 5,000 Illinois DeMolays for the 1976-77 year was Russell A. Scanlan of Tinley Park as state master counselor.

Janet Pugh of Springfield, reigning Illinois DeMolay

Sweetheart, crowned the newly-elected state sweetheart, Patti Nolan, of Carbondale, at the state master counselor's breakfast Sunday morning.

The delegates were housed in the university's 20-story air conditioned dormitory Higgins Hall. Sessions were held in the University Union.

Twelve Job's Daughters from Bethel 43, Granite City, along with three advisors were in attendance at the state master counselor's banquet, rock dance and breakfast, as part of the delegation of Job's Daughters and Rainbow Girls from throughout Illinois.

DeMolays in attendance were Bill Cochran, Bob Cochran, Bob Decourcy, David Harley, Brad Lane, Anthony Tsigaloroff, Dennis Worthen and Mike Worthen, accompanied by advisers Charles E. Hileman Jr. and Charles A. Meyer.

Five faiths on staff of religious center

One aspect of learning is to grow spiritually, and the Religious Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will again provide a full year of worship and activities for the SIUE community.

Campus ministers represent five different faiths. They are: Steve Weissman, Episcopalian; Virgil Santee, American Baptist; James Shortal, Roman Catholic; Robert Treat, United Methodist; and Russell Wigfield, United Christian Foundation.

Catholic services are held daily in the Religious Center at 11:30 a.m. A Saturday evening Eucharist is held at 8:30 and there are Sunday morning worship services for Catholic and Lutheran faiths.

Sunday school services are conducted between the two morning worship services. These classes are open to children in grade school through high school.

Along with the usual worship services, transactional analysis (TA) classes and therapy groups are conducted in the center. The TA classes are non-credit but run for six two-hour sessions. The sessions are conducted by Rev. Treat.

Premarriage institutes are held each quarter, primarily for people who will get married by the Religious Center. According to Rev. Shortal, about one wedding a week is held in the center.

"These sessions are conducted for two Sunday afternoons," he said. "We discuss things like religious values, sex attitudes and expectations." The next institute is scheduled for November.

Other services provided by the center's staff are faculty and civil service luncheon discussions and student discussion groups.

Rev. Wigfield said such luncheons can include discussions about anything from new books to current religious attitudes.

Twice a month, the center staff presents the Campus Ministry Half Hour on WISL-FM (88.7), a variety show with programming which includes interviews and music.

The entire Religious Center staff is available for individual counseling about personal and religious problems. Father Shortal said that people who would like to talk with one of the ministers can call and make an appointment.

The center is open Mondays through Thursdays from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., and on weekends during worship hours.

Visitors are welcome to visit the center with the unusual roof—a transparent geodesic dome which was designed by Buckminster Fuller—and meet the staff. To find out more about the SIUE Religious Center, they may call 692-3246.

Health

introduced into hospitals until 1879.

A yellow fever epidemic hit Southern Illinois in 1879, one of the first emergencies faced by the new State Board of Health.

The board forced most of the "quack doctors" from practice; but in 1879, downstate still had many physicians without medical degrees.

The State Medical Register for that year listed 13 of the first 80 as uncertified, compared with one of 80 in Chicago.

Rush Medical School, Chicago, supplied most of the state's physicians.

The growth of consolidation and professionalism so evident in industry occurred in medicine, however, as specialties, notably obstetrics and "diseases of women," formed the themes of "colleges," and doctors organized the American Medical Association and county medical associations to promote professional medical practice.

In 1893 Dr. John Harvey Kellogg of Battle Creek, Mich., father of prepared breakfast cereals and devout Seventh-Day Adventist, visited the Chicago slums and opened a branch sanitarium with funds donated by wealthy Chicagoans, Francis and Henry Wessels.

Dr. Kellogg advocated direct church aid to feed and clothe slum dwellers as a missionary service.

And in June, 1893, he opened the Chicago Medical Mission. This approach to social medicine involved more than healing specific complaints; and the mission offered baths, laundry facilities, a penny lunch, and a medical dispensary.

In the first three years 28,000 baths, 26,000 other treatments, 9,000 nurses' visits, 70,000 penny lunches, 17,000 religious conversions, and the distribution of 13,500 tracts were recorded.

Dr. Kellogg's work expanded in 1896 with the opening of a Workmen's Home and a Missionary College Settlement Building.

Indigent men were offered shelter at the 400-bed Workmen's Home, and a chance for rehabilitation into the economy by reweaving carpets and making brooms.

Medical students training in Battle Creek began taking their clinical training at the American Medical Missionary College in 1896.

The Chicago facility offered the chance for medical students to receive clinical training and at the same time to serve the desperate medical needs of the city's poor.

The scope of the total medical operation in Chicago, made it a continual drain on the finances of the Adventists, and Dr. Kellogg was forced to sever his relationship with the religious body.

The national death rate per 100,000 population by 1900 listed tuberculosis (184.4); major cardiovascular, renal diseases (345.2); pneumonia influenza (202.2); gastritis, guerdinitis, enteritis, colitis (142.7); accidents (72.3); malignancies (64); diphtheria (40.3); typhoid (31.3); measles (13.3); whooping cough (12.2); cirrhosis liver (12.5); diabetes (11); suicide (10.2). There was reason for hypochondria, and it was exploited.

Patent medicine hawkers offered to cure every ailment from cancer to impotence, often with the same elixer.

As part of a generation generally considered prudish, Illinois Victorians took an amazing interest in the distresses of their generative organs.

Besides such aids as Reliable Worm Cakes and Obesity Powder, the 1897 Sears Catalogue lists Dr. Beaumont's Pennyroyal Pills, "with useful information and instructions to ladies concerning their troubles."

A half-page ad (with a picture of the plunger-like apparatus) extolled the virtues of the "Princess Bust Developer and Bust Cream or Food."

Intriguing compounds were advertised for such specific weaknesses as drinking, smoking and the opium habit while such all-purpose drugs as Dr. Barker's Blood Building cured scrofula, cancer, rheumatism, exema and other skin diseases arising from impurity of the blood, nasal catarrh, acne or pimples, chronic ulcers, carbuncles, boils.

For somewhat less specific disorders, readers were urged to "Beware of Quack Doctors" and take Dr. Chaises' Nerve and Brain Pills to be cured of: "a thousand and one indescribable bad feelings, low spirits, nervousness, weariness, lifelessness, weakness, dizziness, feeling of fullness or emptiness of stomach in morning, flesh soft and lacking firmness, headache . . ."

"Poor memory, chilliness alternating with hot flashes, blurring of eyesight, specks floating before the eyes, nervous irritability, gurgling or rumbling sensation in the heart, short breath on exertion, slow circulation of blood, cold feet, pain and oppression in chest and back, pain around the

Burglar sets fire

Damage to the home of Everett Marcus, 1656 Third St., Madison, is estimated at about $4,000 after a burglary and fire there at 6:35 a.m. Friday.

Firemen called to the scene reported finding the rear screen door out and entry apparently gained by reaching through the screen to slip a book from the door.

Two revolvers were stolen. A camera was left on the living room floor and a rifle was placed on a bed.

The fire was believed started intentionally in a bedroom closet and spread, causing extensive damage inside the home.

Madison volunteer firemen were there 95 minutes.

Workshop

Some of the major firms that are supporting the southern region with subcontract work are:

Granite City Steel, repair and painting of safety equipment. Madison County government, road reference sign contract. McDonnell-Douglas, repair of air hose and air hammer.

Olin Corp., manufacture of industrial mats.

Chris Kaye Plastics, assembly of plastic components.

Standard Oil, bolt contract and a speed fastener assembly.

Specialized Services, through its southern region operations, also does packaging work for a number of area industries.

One of the few items entirely manufactured and marketed by Specialized is a barbecue "smoker" barrel. The 30-gallon unit sells for $42 and the 55-gallon unit for $45, tax included. The barbecue barrel units provide training in welding and spray painting and are done completely by clients in the southern region facility.

"Aching and weariness of the lower limbs, drowsiness after meals, but nervous wakefulness at night and a constant feeling as if something awful was going to happen, impotence, spermatorrhea, night sweats, emissions, cariocoele (or sweat) (weir), weakness of both brain and body, arising from excesses and abuses of any kind."

Health and hypochondria went hand-in-hand during the historical period.

Lake park

such as playgrounds and shelters should not be expected during this fiscal year, due to fund cuts imposed on the conservation department by the state. Ed Keeting of the site planning department in Springfield, noted.

Land acquisition also will be slow until after July 1, when the new fiscal year starts. Robert Corrigan of the land acquisition department said.

He noted the Department of Conservation has not been given any new funds for land acquisition, but has enough carryover funds from the last fiscal year which were reapportioned this fiscal year to purchase about 745 more acres before July 1.

To date, 1,889.61 acres have been purchased of the 3,300 acres in the area planned for the park.

A public auction was held at the park last week and the structures on seven parcels were sold for a total of $2,550. The structures must be moved from the park immediately.

And auction is to be planned for structures yet to be acquired, after those parcels are purchased.

The curtailment of funds by the state also has slowed land acquisition at the nearby Cahokia Mounds State Park, but efforts are underway to acquire the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad right-of-way through Rattlesnake Mound which adjoins the present park.

A request has been filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission for permission to begin condemnation proceedings in an effort to acquire that land, a spokesman for the Conservation Department said.

2 CHILDREN BURNED

Authorities in Granite City are investigating burns to two small children, believed suffered when they came into contact with a strong chemical.

The children were playing on a rear porch in the 2100 block of Benton Street about 1 p.m. Thursday and later the burns appeared. Police noted the porch appeared to have been washed down with some substance. One child 4 years old, suffered burns to his face and tongue and a girl had a burn to an arm. The boy was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Mercer advances on double triumph

Mercer Mortuary yesterday won both ends of a twirl over Panama at the Wilson park diamond, 5-4 and 6-2, in opening games of the Illinois Inter-City Baseball League post-season playoffs.

Mercer will now meet the winner of a Highland-Pierson and East Alto Vets game to be played Sunday, Aug. 28.

The playoff championship competition is planned for here on Sunday, Sept. 5.

A third contest was necessitated between Highland and the Vans when the two teams split a doubleheader yesterday at Highland.

The Vans blanked the hosts 9-0 and then lost 3-2.

A two-run homer in the opening inning of the first game here by Panama's John Urban put the visitors on top. Mercer scored in its half of the frame when Dennis Harrington doubled and Jack Scarborough singled.

The visitors scored twice in the top of the seventh, but a three-run rally by Mercer kept the contest in the extra innings.

In the seventh, Jack Scarborough singled, Jim Greenwood walked and both Bobby Scott and Bob Hughes doubled. The deciding run crossed the plate in the ninth when Greenwood and Scott singled, Hughes walked and Dave Schaake singled.

Jerome Deml relieved starting pitcher Stan Osterbur in the sixth and got the win. Vic Reznack went the distance for Mercer in winning the second game. He walked four batters and fanned three while pitching a two-hitter.

Each side scored twice in the first, Mercer when Scarborough singled and Pat Peterson homered.

Mercer took the lead for good in the third with three runs. Peterson and Greenwood singled and both scored when Hughes reached base on an error. The throw to home plate bounced off of the catcher's glove and rolled away.

Dave Schaake singled and was forced on a grounder by Dennis Harrington. Ken Schaake walked and Reznack singled in a run.

A run in the fifth made it 6-2 when Harrington reached base on an error, stole a base and later was sacrificed home on a flyball by Ken Schaake.

Port cargo transfer enabling law signed

Gov. Dan Walker on Friday signed legislation to speed development of the Tri-City Regional Port District and enable district cargo handling facilities constructed by the Capital Development Board.

One measure signed Friday (Senate Bill 1754) changes the public docking and commodity transfer facility of the Tri-City District from 50 per cent of gross receipts to 20 per cent of gross receipts, whether collected by the district or an operator.

A companion measure (Senate Bill 1755) adopts similar public provisions for all port facilities constructed by the district.

Both measures, sponsored by Sen. Sam Vadablene (D-Edwardsville), were needed to modify existing legislation to facilitate financing of construction.

The new legislation will assure that district construction programs like the Tri-City project and the Shawneetown Regional Port District will repay CDB loans in a timely fashion while also permitting normal yearly budgeting.

Gov. Walker also signed a measure (Senate Bill 1756) which extends for the third year special provisions contained in the Downstate Public Transportation Act for the Bi-State Transit System serving this area.

These provisions authorize a "double share" subsidy and waive the requirement for a local match. The legislation was sponsored by Sen. Vadablene and Sen. Kenneth Hall (D-East St. Louis).

Two hurt on motorcycle

Warren J. Pingel, 66, of 902 Greenwood St., Madison, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital at 2:10 a.m. Friday suffering multiple cuts to the left knee and left ankle and multiple bruises to both arms. A passenger on the Pingel motorcycle, Debbie Tubey, 17, of St. Louis, was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital and is reported in serious condition.

The accident reportedly occurred one quarter mile north of Bend Road on Illinois Route 203.

According to Illinois State Police, Pingel was northbound on the shoulder of Route 203 when his motorcycle collided with a southbound auto driven by Gene C. Oliver Jr., 26, of Fairview Heights. Oliver reportedly told police he was making a left turn on a private drive when he felt the impact of the motorcycle.

A 15-year-old Granite City boy has been arrested and police are searching for a boy about 18 or 19 years of age in connection with a burglary at the home of Sharon Green, 2209 Monroe St., discovered at 9:20 p.m. Saturday.

Witnesses saw two boys running in the back yard of the Green home and shined a flashlight on them, allegedly identifying the juvenile, who had a bundle in his hands. The burglars fled from the scene on foot.

Police discovered the facing had been forced from a doorway from the basement to the kitchen to gain entry to the living area. Drawers in both bedrooms were searched and a portable record player was left near the rear door.

After talking to the witnesses, police questioned the juvenile and he allegedly gave them two radios, a prescription bottle and pills, three watches, three cigarette lighters and an assortment of rings and necklaces.

About $125 in cash and an assortment of jewelry still is missing, authorities said.

Shooting

after Mr. Prince had been shot. Allen also said he was unable to call police during the incident because his telephone was out of order, authorities related.

The officers reported several windows of their home had been broken and the front door had been kicked, all within the previous 10 days.

When police were told shots had been heard from inside the Allen home, squad cars were sent.

The first officer on the scene reported he found Allen and his 17-year-old wife on the front porch and that Allen had a revolver in his hand.

Allen said there was a dead man in the kitchen and the officer asked him to put the gun down, which he did, it was related.

Mr. Prince was found on the kitchen floor with his head propped against a leg of the kitchen table. There was blood on his shirt, on the floor and on the front of the refrigerator.

There also was a large carving knife laying on Mr. Prince's throat; it appeared to have fallen from the table when Mr. Prince fell against it.

There were no cuts to his throat. Plastic dishes from the table were on the floor, where they are believed to have fallen when the table was jarred.

The officer checked Mr. Prince for signs of life and found none. He then called for an ambulance, a deputy coroner and detectives.

Allen showed the officer a 9 millimeter automatic pistol on the kitchen floor under a chair near the bedroom door.

Allen alleged it was the weapon Mr. Prince had been carrying when he broke into the home, and he further said that after Mr. Prince was shot, he kicked the gun away for safety, police learned.

Officers recovered Allen's gun from where he had laid it and found it fully loaded. It is believed one shot had been fired from the 38 caliber special revolver and it had been reloaded due to the Allen's belief that more men would follow Mr. Prince into the home.

The shotgun believed to have been used in shooting Mr. Prince was in the living room of the home afterward, propped up against a piece of furniture, authorities reported.

The Allen's were taken to the Granite City police station, where they were questioned at length before being released at 3:30 a.m. today.

Mr. Prince had been residing in Worden, Ill., until his house burned down recently. He then returned to Granite City and was residing with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter (Ruby) Prince, at 3714 Pontoon Road.

He was born in Harrisburg, Ky., prior to moving to this area about 15 years ago.

He was an independent painter here for seven years.

Teachers pact is ratified

Madison teachers this morning ratified a new working agreement with the Madison Board of Education which clears the way for the opening of school tomorrow.

The agreement was reached last night by the board and negotiators for the American Federation of Teachers Local 763 and the teachers negotiating team took the tentative agreement to the union's membership at 8 a.m. today for a vote.

The official vote tally has not been released and union officials were unavailable for comment today, but Superintendent of Schools John Peltch said he took the agreement to the union after last night's meeting to sign the agreement if the teachers ratified it.

The school board voted after Mr. Peltch's meeting to sign the agreement if the teachers ratified it.

Terms of the new agreement have not been released, but it is believed to provide higher salaries for teachers and has a provision which lengthens the working day of teachers by 20 minutes.

Lead poison testing

The Madison County Association for Retarded Citizens—in cooperation with Illinois Public Health Services, Visiting Nurse Services, Illinois Public Aid Commission, Granite City's St. Elizabeth Hospital, the Madison County Auxiliary and Illinois Association for Retarded Citizens—is announcing sites and dates for free lead poisoning tests for young children in the Quad-Cities.

Dates and places will be: Thursday, Sept. 2 (9 a.m. to 5 p.m.) at the Madison Economic Opportunity Commission Neighborhood Service Center, Second Street and Madison Avenue in Madison and (9 a.m. to 5 p.m.) at the YMCA Pine Room, 20th Street and Edison Avenue.

Saturday, Sept. 4 (9 a.m. to 3 p.m.) at the YMCA Pine Room in Granite City.

Also, on Sept. 1 and 3, testing is scheduled for the Alton area. In addition to the above locations, testing will be provided in the mobile unit of the Illinois ARC. This van will be circulating in selected neighborhoods in the Quad-City area on Sept. 2 and 4, as needed.

Quad-Cityans may call 259-0072 if they wish to volunteer to assist at the testing sites.

They also may call if they know of groups of children, one to six years of age, that could be tested at one location.

"Arrangements will be made to take the testing van into areas where there is a concentration of children to be tested," a spokesman said.

Lead poisoning is a "threatening illness" for young children and can permanently impair their minds and bodies.

Prevention is the best protection from lead poisoning—and periodic testing of young children is the only way to protect them."

Immunizations for students called vital

In 1964, an epidemic of German measles (rubella) swept the country.

Pregnant women coming into contact with persons with the disease would communicate it to their unborn children.

The epidemic left in its wake more than 20,000 cases of blindness, hearing loss, heart defects, mental retardation and even death in newborn infants.

In an effort to prevent future tragedies within the state, the Illinois legislature passed a law in 1967 requiring school children to be immunized against rubella as well as other serious childhood diseases—diphtheria, whooping cough, polio, tetanus and regular measles.

"All public, private and parochial school students are to have these vaccinations by the time they enter kindergarten," according to State Superintendent of Education Joseph M. Cronin.

"Appropriate booster shots are required at the fifth and ninth grade levels," he added. Cronin pointed out that the Illinois Department of Public Health recommends that these immunizations be given to children before they are two years old—long before they enter school.

"Yet, many children arrive at the schoolhouse door each fall without these basic immunizations," he reported. "These children endanger their own health, that of other children who are unable to take vaccines because of health or religious reasons, and the health of the unborn whose mother might come in contact with a child with rubella," Dr. Cronin said.

The state school superintendent cited a survey of kindergarten children conducted last year which showed that one in five public kindergarten children had no immunization against rubella.

One in ten had not been given measles vaccine.

"Even more alarming," Cronin said, "were the figures showing that less than half our public school kindergarten youngsters were adequately immunized against diphtheria, pertussis and tetanus. And one-fourth had less than the prescribed three doses of polio vaccine."

"These are serious diseases which can result in permanent physical and mental damage," Cronin warned.

Complete physical and dental exams, including vision and hearing screening tests, also are required for students entering kindergarten, fifth and ninth grade, Cronin reminded parents.

He added that students at any grade level entering from out-of-state schools are required to have a health exam and the prescribed immunizations.

Plane owners must file IRS tax return

Most taxpayers who own aircraft must file a special Federal tax return, Form 4638, by Aug. 31.

"The return, Form 4638, must include the $25 annual fee for each aircraft, plus the tax of 2½ cents for each pound of maximum certified take-off weight for turbo-propeller aircraft, and 2 cents for each pound of maximum certified take-off weight over 2,500 pounds for piston powered aircraft," according to Ira S. Loeb, IRS district director.

The tax year for the Use Tax begins July 1 and runs through June 30. If the first taxable use of an aircraft occurs after July 31, the tax based on weight is proportionately reduced.

"Forms 4638 and Publication 582, Federal Use Tax on Civil Aircraft," providing additional information on the aircraft use tax, are available at IRS offices," Loeb said, "or by calling IRS toll-free at 800-252-2921."

Master Masons to be honored

Triple Lodge 835 AF&AM will host Master Mason Night on Wednesday, Aug. 25, at the Masonic Temple, 28th Street and Cleveland Boulevard, according to Grant Harbison, worshipful master.

Harbison announced a gala night is planned for all Master Masons, their families and guests.

The evening will begin with a 6:30 p.m. dinner followed by various types of entertainment.

Bob Hardy, who presently is the Potentate of Ainal Shrine Temple in East St. Louis and KMOX radio announcer will be the guest speaker.

He will give a talk on masonry followed by a film entitled "Little Ricky" which relates to a child hospitalized for special treatment.

Among other things, the workshop will include collecting mushrooms, carving apples to make dolls and finding natural deposits of clay for creating arts and crafts. "There also will be campfires and songests, not to mention marshmallow roasts," Williams added.

The workshops will have things for every member of the family to do.

"Kids are a necessity in this thing," Williams believes. "It will be a sharing experience, for the husband, wife and children. But also, because this workshop is for elementary school teachers, they will be learning how to teach environmental education to their own classes."

"In this sense, the family will also see what it's like for Mom or Dad to be going to school."

He hopes to have 20 to 25 families for the four weekend sessions.

Family workshop offered

"Fall is when 'everyone' heads back to school. And everyone in the family will have an opportunity to go back to school in the family workshop to be offered this fall at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville."

Robert Williams, assistant professor of elementary education at the university, stresses that the workshop, entitled Elementary Education 490, will involve all members of the family.

"The workshop will encompass an entire weekend outdoors, and the families will be cooking wild foods, collecting dyes (from natural plants), creating a weaving system and trying to do their own weaving," he said.

"The winter workshop will involve everything concerning snow. I hope there will be about three feet of snow on the ground, because we want to try snow shoeing, snowmobiling and that sort of thing."

"I hope I will be able to mold one big family together," Williams said. "All will be coming from different towns and, through this, I want them to get to know each other and feel the needs of the family strongly."

The first workshop will begin with the fall quarter. The first workshop will be held at Pere Marquette State Park near Gratiot.

The other three will be held at Palisades State Park near the Wisconsin state line in February, at Giant City State Park in March, and at Lincoln Log Cabin State Park in April.

All have an outdoor theme. "The winter workshop will involve everything concerning snow. I hope there will be about three feet of snow on the ground, because we want to try snow shoeing, snowmobiling and that sort of thing."

Williams said. "The workshop to take place in April will consist of nature walks to watch birds and find flowers."

"It's a completely original idea. We're experimenting to see if it works. Environmental education is completely open to this kind of thing."

The only thing that Williams asks of the teachers who participate is that they use the skills they have learned in his class with their own classes.

"It's fun and it's interesting to use these techniques with elementary children. Very few of my teachers have any problems with this."

It changes not only the children, but also the teachers. That is what I'm teaching at a university for—to make changes in people," he concluded.

Kimberly Shaw becomes Mrs. Anthony Vesce Jr.

St. John United Church of Christ was the scene of the wedding on Aug. 13 of Miss Kimberly Renee Shaw, a daughter of Mrs. Thelma Shaw, 2020 Cleveland Blvd., and Bill Shaw of Philadelphia, Pa., and Anthony James Vesce Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Vesce Jr., 2545 Zippel Ave.

Prior to the service, Mrs. Debra Brimer sang "Twelfth of Never" and "The Wedding Prayer," accompanied by organist Mrs. Irene Hupp. Bouquets of blue mums and pink daisies intermingled with baby's breath and greenery adorned the altar and burning tapers in branched candelabra illuminated the sanctuary for the double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Dr. Paul Surbey at 7 o'clock in the evening.

Escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length white Chantilly gown complemented with a finger-tip veil edged with matching scallop lace and secured to a Juliet cap, etched with seed pearls.

Her dress was designed with a high neckline, molded bodice, accented with a wide gathered lace ruffle which created an oval yoke, and long tapered sleeves.

The tiered skirt of lace ruffles extended into a chapel train and she carried a cascade of white carnations and bridal pink roses with sprigs of blue pom poms and baby's breath.

Maid of honor Miss Tami Jettif chose a formal length dress of pink chiffon over tulle fashioned with a fitted bodice, a high neckline and long puffed sleeves.

The bridesmaids, Misses Jan Rose, Barbara Miller and Pam Hall, selected identical gowns in blue chiffon.

Each attendant held a cascade bouquet of daisies, carnations and pom poms in the pink, white and blue hues. All wore clusters of matching flowers in their hair.

Jennifer Moore, the flower girl, was dressed in a pink frock and carried a white wicker basket filled with pink, white and blue blossoms.

Richard Frazier, a cousin of the groom, served as the ringbearer.

The groom chose his brother, Mike Vesce, as best man. Groomsmen included George Barker, John Bell and Phil Werner.

Guests were seated by Mark Shaw and Ralph Vesce, brothers of the bride couple, and Stan Sawicki.

Mr. and Mrs. Vesce, parents of the groom, entertained members of the wedding party and their families at a rehearsal dinner at Charlie's Restaurant.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Shaw selected a long blue chiffon sleeveless gown enhanced with a matching cape over the shoulders and a decorative beaded trim at the natural waistline.

Mrs. Vesce, mother of the groom, was attired in a formal length dress created of green print chiffon.

Both mothers carried purse corsages of roses to complement their attire.

The newly married Mr. and Mrs. Vesce received guests at a reception given at the Madison County Firemen's Hall after the ceremony.

A 1976 graduate of Granite City High School North, the bride is now employed at Chromalloy Photographic Industries, St. Louis. The groom was graduated in 1975 from South High School and works for Vesce, Inc.

They are now residing in Collinsville. Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones of Vero Beach, Fla. and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bess of Virden, Ill.

Quad-City Navy Mothers social

A social meeting was held Thursday evening by Quad-City Navy Mothers Unit 850 at the VFW Hall, 2044 Washington Ave.

Mrs. Edna Miller, commander, was in charge and the hostesses were Mesdames Velma Finney, Jean Teller and Margaret Minzes.

In the games session, prizes were won by Mrs. Hazel Jones, first; Mrs. Miller, second; and Mrs. Ernest VonNida, third. Mrs. VonNida received the mystery package and Mrs. Jones won a special award.

Refreshments were served to 14 members and a guest, Joseph Strecker.

Mrs. Miller said a business meeting will take place Sept. 2 at the VFW club.

Dombek-Theis wedding at St. John Lutheran

Miss Denise Lynn Theis, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Theis, 1172 Prentiss Drive, San Jose, Calif., former residents and George Steven Dombek, a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dombek, 3448 Lydia Lane, exchanged wedding vows in an early evening ceremony on July 24 at St. John Lutheran Church, 2001 St. Clair Ave.

Bouquets of orange and yellow carnations and gladioli decorated the altar and burning tapers in aisle candelabra illuminated the church for the double ring ceremony performed at 6 p.m. by the Rev. Ronald Hillmer.

Organist James Havranek accompanied Mrs. Margaret MacZura as she sang, "Sunrise, Sunset," "Wedding Song," "One Hand, One Heart," "Sabbath Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer."

For her wedding the bride chose a floor length gown fashioned of rayon satin featuring organza designed with molded bodice with an open neckline traced with a pearl and lace trim and long lace bishop sleeves.

A deep flounce encircled the hemline and the full chapel train was accented with Nottingham lace.

She wore a lace and pearl camelot cap to secure a fingertip nylon illusion veil. Her bridal bouquet was an arrangement of Sonja roses, yellow carnations and white daisies with baby's breath and variegated foliage.

Miss Dawn Theis, a sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore a long peach dotted swiss sleeveless Empire style gown worn with a short SUMMER BRIDE. Mrs. Frank Richard Reidelberger III, formerly Miss Elizabeth Ann Scheppeler who was married Saturday at Christ the King Chapel in Davenport, Iowa. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scheppeler, of Davenport.

Miss Scheppeler marries Frank Reidelberger III

An out of town wedding of interest here was that of Miss Elizabeth Ann Scheppeler, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scheppeler, 2645 Fillmore Lane, Davenport, Iowa and Frank Richard Reidelberger III, son of Mrs. Margaret Reidelberger, 1240 Klein Ave., Venice and the late Frank R. Reidelberger Jr., on Saturday evening at Christ the King Chapel, Davenport.

Two large Edwardian bouquets of pink and white summer flowers on the altar with matching pew decorations provided the setting for the double ring ceremony performed at 7 p.m. by Father John O'Connell, pastor of St. Mark's Catholic Church, Venice.

Michael Barry sang wedding songs prior to the service.

Given in marriage by her father the former Miss Scheppeler wore a white organza Empire style gown designed with a Chantilly bodice, high ruffled neckline and long tapered sleeves.

Matching lace etched with sequins accented the deep flounce at the hemline of the skirt and attached train.

The full length chapel veil of imported illusion was edged with scallop lace and secured by a lace headpiece. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and baby's breath.

Maid of honor was Miss Debbie Cassidy and bridesmaids were Miss Judy Reidelberger, a sister of the groom, Miss Mary Meath, Miss Debbie Smith and Miss Jane Holtz.

They selected identical pink dotted voile full length gowns trimmed with white Chantilly lace on the pinstripe style bodice, long full sleeves and on the ruffled flounce which encircled the skirts.

Each attendant carried a matching pink parasol enhanced with fresh flowers and ribbon streamers.

Katy McCleish, the flower girl, was dressed in a long pink frock created with short sleeves, high rise waistline and full skirt. She also carried a parasol shaped basket filled with blossoms.

Jason McInch served as the ringbearer.

The groom selected Lieutenant Dave Hamilton as best man. Groomsmen included Robert Scheppeler, a brother of the bride, Stan Soboleski, Dan Osburne and Dale Tempson.

A reception held after the ceremony was at Jumer's Castle Lodge in Bettendorf, Iowa. The rehearsal dinner was served at Ben's Gourmet House, Rock Island, Ill.

The bride graduated from Fontbonne College, St. Louis, with a Bachelor of Arts degree in mathematics and English.

She is now employed as an associate engineer at McDonnell-Douglas Aircraft Co.

The groom was graduated from Parks College of St. Louis University with a Bachelor of Science degree in aircraft maintenance engineering and is working as a field engineer with General Electric Co., St. Louis.

They will reside in Valley Park, Mo., following a wedding trip to Disneyworld, Fla.

SIUE orientation sessions

Four special orientation sessions for interested or prospective master of business administration students at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville have been scheduled during the coming school year. The first session will be Thursday, Sept. 30, at 6:30 p.m. in the Ohio Room of the University Center.

According to Robert Schutzius, chief academic adviser for the School of Business, group advisement sessions that began in January with undergraduate students. Previously, students had always been advised individually. Due to staff cutbacks and increasing enrollments, Schutzius said that group advisement will be initiated.

"We are now able to serve more students in group sessions. With the growth projections for our program, we must inaugurate these group sessions to accommodate the expanding MBA program. We will continue to have individual sessions for students, but we are finding that the demand is so great we are unable to give individual advisement for each academic quarter," he said.

"In these orientation sessions, we will have an explanation of the content and course requirements of the MBA program," Schutzius said. "Secondly, the requirements for entering the program, the process whereby students can begin and apply for admission, and variable scheduling (morning, evening or weekend classes) will be explained," he said.

These sessions will be conducted by Schutzius and Lamar Thomas, academic adviser for the School of Business. Other sessions are scheduled for Dec. 16, Feb. 28 and June 9. To learn more about attending these sessions and the SIUE School of Business, Quad-Cities may contact the School at 692-3840.

MRS. STEPHEN GAUEN, the former Judith Ann Vandaveer who was married Saturday evening at St. John Evangelical United Church of Christ, Collinsville. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Zoe Vandaveer of Edwardsville.

Judith Vandaveer and Stephen Gauen are wed

Miss Judith Ann Vandaveer, 11228 Marbella, St. Louis, formerly of Granite City, and Stephen E. Gauen, 85 Thorncliffe Park Drive, Toronto, Ontario Canada, were united in marriage Saturday evening at St. John Evangelical United Church of Christ in Collinsville. Burning tapers illuminated the sanctuary for the 7 o'clock ceremony performed by the Rev. Donald S. Sabbert.

Guitarist and soloist Larry Kennedy played and sang, "If," "Love Song," "Morning Has Broken," and "We've Only Just Begun."

Parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Zoe Vandaveer, reside in Edwardsville. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Robert Gauen of Collinsville.

For her wedding, the bride, chose a full length white gown accented with Venice lace on the Empire bodice, the scoop neckline and the small cap sleeves.

The A-line skirt was bordered with a gathered flounce. She wore a full length white lace veil of illusion applied with Venice lace motifs and she held a nosegay of white gardenias, stephanotis, baby's breath and greenery.

Maid of honor Kathy Lenz and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Dale Rednour, Mrs. Larry Kunkle, Mrs. William Clover and Mrs. Larry Schott, a sister of the groom, selected long dotted-veiled dresses.

Each one carried a nosegay of white daisies, baby's breath and greenery.

Herb Shear attended the groom as best man. Robert Lorenz, Mike and Jon Vandaveer, brothers of the bride and Larry Schott, the groom's brother-in-law served as groomsmen.

Ushers were Paul Welch and Bill McDowell, a cousin of the bride.

A reception was held at the Sunset Hills Country Club after the ceremony and the rehearsal dinner was hosted at the Round Table Restaurant, Collinsville.

After a wedding trip to Bermuda, the newlyweds will be at home in Toronto, Canada, Sept. 1.

A Collinsville High School graduate, the former Miss Vandaveer, received a B.S. degree in education from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale and her M.S. degree from SIUE. She taught the third grade at Niedringhaus School prior to her resignation.

Enrollment, cost crunch continuing

A new elementary school opened in East Alton 18 years ago. That school—Niagara Elementary School—will be closed this fall because of declining enrollments.

"Niagara Elementary School is representative of the approximately 100 schools in Illinois which will have shut their doors this fall because of declining enrollments," according to State Superintendent of Education Joseph M. Cronin. Cronin noted that in 1959, when the East Alton grade school opened, enrollments were still growing in the state. The post-war baby boom and the increasing birth rate throughout the 50's meant 27 years of uninterrupted growth in enrollments following World War II.

Births peaked in 1959 at 229,871, according to Illinois Department of Public Health figures.

Then, in 1960, there was a small decline in the number of live births, followed by a decline the next year, and a continued decline for the next 14 years. Last year, Illinois births were recorded at 169,248.

"At first, school districts were affected little by the declining birthrates," Cronin said. "However, as the years passed and each succeeding class of kindergarten children was smaller than the class it replaced, elementary schools began to feel the pinch of declining enrollments."

Public school enrollments peaked in 1971 at 2.37 million, according to Dr. Cronin.

The 1972-73 school year was the turning point. That year, the number of students dropped by 25,000, Cronin said. The total 1972-73 public school enrollment was 2,256,336, a 4.9 per cent decline from the 71-72 peak enrollment of the state superintendent noted.

He said that the further decline of 400,000 pupils—or one-sixth of the present student population—is expected over the next 10 years.

Cronin pointed out that the enrollment declines have not affected all parts of the state or individual districts uniformly.

"Generally," he said, "enrollments are decreasing in central cities, older suburbs, small towns and rural areas."

"However," he added, "in the newer suburbs which attract young families, enrollments continue to go up."

Illinois Office of Education figures show that between the 1974-75 and 1975-76 school years, 32 school districts lost 10 per cent or more of their enrollment; at the same time, 26 districts experienced enrollment increases of 10 per cent or more.

On a county-wide basis, Mason County showed the largest percentage increase from the 1974 school year to 1975 with an overall growth of 4.53 per cent. Gallatin County showed the largest per cent decrease in enrollment that year, with a 4.21 per cent decrease.

Cronin noted that non-public schools—the parochial and private schools—have experienced the same declines. He cited figures which showed that since 1971-72, the peak year for public school enrollments, the enrollment in nonpublic schools has fallen from 420,155 to 344,778—a decline of 18 per cent. Projections are for continued enrollment decline in the non-public sector.

The dilemmas posed by declining enrollments, Cronin said, concern people, facilities and money.

People: About one-fourth of the work force in Illinois is employed in some phase of education.

Last spring more than 3,500 dismissal notices were mailed mainly to nonunion teachers, Cronin estimated.

Although some of these teachers were later rehired by school districts, these lay-offs are in sharp contrast to the teacher shortages of the 50's and 60's, which found more and more young persons encouraged to enter teacher training and others given temporary certificates to allow them to teach even without the required training.

In 1973, Dr. Cronin said, there were 110,402 teachers in Illinois public schools. By the 1985-86 school year, the need should drop to between 91,000 and 94,000—a drop of nearly 20,000 persons.

Teacher turnover—teachers retiring or finding other jobs within or outside of education—is calculated at approximately 10 per cent each year. At the same time, however, additional persons enter the competition each year for any vacant positions. Former teachers attempt to re-enter the field, and thousands of students complete the requirements for certification.

An IOE report notes that as the demand for full-time regular classroom teachers has declined at all levels, school district officials become inclined to hire more part-time teachers at the junior and senior high levels in order to minimize costs and maximize flexibility for the future. Although teacher education programs have voluntarily cut back, the number of certificates issued during 1975-76 was approximately 23,000. This is a decline of one-third from the 34,000 certificates issued in the peak enrollment year of 71-72.

Buildings: As enrollments continue to decline, school districts are finding they have extra space on their hands. Classrooms go unused; eventually entire buildings have to be closed, buildings which may go unused and be subject to deterioration and vandalism.

East Alton was fortunate; it rented its Niagara School to the Madison County Association of Retarded Citizens to be used as a school for retarded children.

"A drastic decrease in elementary buildings in use could begin next year," according to Cronin, "with possibly 1,000 fewer elementary schools in operation by 1985-86 compared to 1971-72 when enrollments peaked."

Cronin said the number of high schools won't begin any significant or continuing decline until 1983-84. Projections are for 45 fewer high schools in 1985-86 compared to 1975-76, when high school enrollments peaked.

Money: Most districts lose so few students per grade level each year, that it is only after several years that staff cuts can be made or buildings can be closed.

Operating costs, therefore, can't be cut until there is a fairly substantial decline in enrollments, Cronin explained. However, school districts lose money immediately when enrollments decline because of the close link between state and federal aid and the number of pupils in a district.

Springfield, for instance, loses about $923 in state aid for each student it loses. While this may not seem all that large a loss, if you multiply that times 100 students, the loss is more than $90,000.

And if these students are split among the grade levels and then further split among the different schools, staff and building cuts are impossible. Expenses would remain the same—or possibly increase because of inflation, whereas revenues would drop.

State aid accounted for 35 per cent of school district revenues as reported in the 1974-75 Annual Financial Report.

In addition, school districts are finding it harder and harder to obtain voter approval for increased local taxes. Schools with fewer children are assumed to need less money, not more.

Also, as the number of children decreases, the percentage of the electorate with children also drops, which means the schools lose a percentage which would normally vote for more local support.

School boards are being forced to make difficult, and often unpopular, decisions—decisions to fire teachers, close neighborhood schools or cut out courses, extra-curricular activities or athletics.

"Educators are working hard to turn the hardships of today into opportunities for excellence with more time and attention given to smaller classes and more concern given to the individual student," according to Cronin.

"Education must not be made the scapegoat because of difficult economic or social problems in the nation."

"Our commitment to education today will help determine the quality of life in the nation's third hundred years," the state school superintendent said.

Student work unit to meet

The 120th year of Blackburn College in Carlinville will begin with the arrival of the work committee on Wednesday. The committee is composed of 14 students who have managerial responsibility for varied activities relating to the successful functioning of the campus. Faculty advisor to the work committee is Dr. Philip Heeler.

The four-year liberal arts coeducational college has an enrollment of 600. Students work 15 hours a week at on-campus jobs in addition to pursuing their studies. The work program began in 1913 under the direction of Dr. William M. Hudson.

The president's reception for new students and their parents will be held Sunday, Aug. 29, from 1:30 to 3 p.m. in Lumpkin Library. President and Mrs. John R. Alberti will meet the newcomers. Charles O. Gordon is planning a series of meetings with new students to help them become oriented to college life. "We want to help them with career counseling, with study skills and in coping with college life and life in general," he reports.

GINGER CREEK

ONE OF THE NICEST HOMES IN THE
LAND OF GOSHEN
No. 7CS - The Woodridge

For fun summer dining pass the hot hors d'oeuvres and the iced drinks through the "jazz through the trees" that make this attractive house to the patio deck with its rustic railing. The deck also opens into the spacious living room with its chocolate brown shag rug. In the winter, the dining room is the family dining room. It's a dining room with a fireplace and lounge area... it's unusual... and cozy. The house has 3 bedrooms and 2 baths. And the 1036 sq. foot lower level is a handyman's dream. 1 room for a 3rd bath, more bedrooms, laundry room, rec. room, craft room, whatever you need. This is a lovely and unusual home priced in the 100's!

Economic concepts subject of special SIUE workshop

Area teachers are becoming acquainted in a special workshop at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Underwritten by the Amoco Corporation, the World of Work of Economic Education, or WOEWE workshop, is giving 35 area kindergarten through twelfth grade teachers an opportunity to learn about economic principles applicable to the working world and how to incorporate them into their curriculum.

John Clow, associate professor of business at SIUE and instructor for the course, said that this program helps teachers integrate economics into their classes.

"Most classes at all levels provide teachable moments for economics," he said. "Often, teachers will not cover economic concepts due to little background in economics."

One of the important thrusts of the program is community participation. Guest lecturers in the course have included Richard May, president of Illinois Federal Savings at St. Clair Square; John Virgo, associate professor of economics at SIUE and president of the Atlantic Economic Society; Larry Maher, public affairs manager for Olin Corporation in East Alton; and J. W. Thomas, manager of employee relations for Amoco.

Most of the teachers in the program are from the Edwardsville, East Alton-Wood River and Alton areas. They have been developing lesson plans which they will use this fall when they return to classes.

Clow will work with the teachers as a follow-up to utilizing their plans and developing additional ones.

Lesson topics can range from very simple concepts for grade school and special education children to more difficult concepts for business students in high school. Clow said one example of an economics lesson is the children's rhyme, "Little Tommy Tucker sings for his supper." This can show that some people provide a service instead of making a product to get paid.

Another lesson illustration is, "A teacher goes into class with a doughnut and eats it in front of the class," Clow said. "He then brings out two more doughnuts and asks how much the class members will give him for them. After they bid, he brings out 10 more doughnuts and they bid. He then brings out 15 more doughnuts and they bid again. A chart of the various bids will show that the price drops."

"This shows the class some dimensions of the law of supply and demand and how scarcity affects prices," he said.

An example of how to teach productivity involves making a product or performing a service that the class is given a time limit to complete.

"The teacher sees how many items each member of the class can produce in the time limit. Then the kids discuss who should get more money," Clow said.

Economics lessons can also include why money exists. Clow said that teachers can use a bartering situation in their classroom which shows how cumbersome it is. Then they realize how money can simplify a trading situation.

Clow hopes that this course will give teachers a way to teach basic economics and also give them the confidence to approach these issues in class.

"The whole idea of the program is to show the common sense nature of basic economics," he said, "and we do this simply by making it applicable to everyday life."

WOWEE will be offered again in the fall quarter at SIUE. For further details, Quad-Cityans may contact John Clow in the School of Business at 692-2930.

Project little change in Venice school enrollment

Anticipated enrollment figures and preparations for the 1976-77 school year, commencing today, were among the items of business considered by the Venice Board of Education at its meeting last week.

Venice students reported for a half-day of classes today and will attend school on a full-time basis Tuesday, Aug. 24 through Friday, Aug. 27. No school will be held Monday, Sept. 6 — Labor Day — with sessions resuming on a full-time basis Tuesday, Sept. 7.

Projections for the coming year and completion of preparations for school to open today were reviewed in reports made to the board by John C. Rush, new principal of Venice High School, and Mrs. Anna McKinney, Venice Grade School principal.

Rush was appointed VHS principal in early June, succeeding Lewis E. Sabin who retired after 39 years in District 3. Rush said about 150 high school students currently are enrolled, with an additional 25 expected to enroll before this week's starting date, bringing the total number of high school students to about the same figure as last year.

Mrs. McKinney reported grade school enrollment figures are roughly the equivalent of those recorded in the 1975-76 school year.

Summarizing the principals' remarks at the pre-board meeting, Jack Tolliver, Venice School Board president commented, "The way we started out tonight I am very optimistic about the coming year and the good things that are happening. With cooperation of the principals and staff and, of course the students... the reason for our being here... we should have a very good year."

Following an executive session later in the same meeting two aides for the Title VII program were hired. Employed were Dolores Scaturro, 1274 Klein St., and Charlotte Dilday, 121 Hampton St.

Requisitions approved for the Title VII program, expenditures for which are reimbursable from state funds, amounted to $8,822 and included such items as an overhead projector, video recorder and camera, file cabinets, pegboard, bookcases, portable typewriter, cassette machines, "time and money" kits, a Systems 80 machine for individualized instruction in reading and math, eight calculators, desk, four portable cassette recorders and various testing materials.

The board agreed to purchase six Olympia manual typewriters from Triangle Typewriter and Supplies, costing $244 each, for the business class. A $75 per machine trade-in has been offered for two electric and four manual typewriters, Supt. of Schools Robert Vickers said.

During a discussion on new programs at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center, the district-administered adult vocational school, Board Member John Boushark asked why such programs as welding, auto mechanics and machine shop should not be offered to high school students.

Boushark suggested making available the Venice-Lincoln courses as an after-school program. "I think you'd be surprised at how many kids would go down there," he said.

Supt. Vickers agreed with the proposal, saying "It would be a good thing if it would work." A check with teachers to find out how many youths would be interested in participating in such courses will be made, he said.

K. Duane Rankin, Venice-Lincoln director, said the facility could be used by junior and senior high school students after regular school hours or in the early morning. A job experience program could be added to the current curriculum, he noted.

Through a program offered by SIU at Carbondale, a job placement counselor possibly could be added to the staff to help graduating seniors, Rankin said.

Monthly bills, payrolls and financial statements for Venice schools and Venice-Lincoln center were approved.

Vickers warned the board that "We are going to have to participate in the education fund much sooner this year than in the past. We have to pay $49,000 back into the fund," he added.

The board authorized the use of St. Mark's Church basement as a temporary classroom to accommodate a high school TMH class. The facilities there are far better for this type of program than any in the school building, Vickers said in response to a question from a board member.

It was agreed to follow a public hearing on the budget, set Aug. 30, with a short meeting to review board policies and make changes in the present policy document. Suggested changes were discussed at an earlier meeting.
